Dear Friend:

An exciting collaboration has been formed with members from many of this region's leading business and technology companies, economic development agencies/organizations, and California State University Channel Islands (CSUCI). We are inviting you as a business and community leader to join us in this exciting and important endeavor through your participation in the CSUCI Business & Technology Partnership (B&T Partnership).

Since the opening of CSUCI in Fall 2002, the University has made significant and ongoing contributions to the technology and related service-based companies in our region. The goal of the B&T Partnership is to collaborate with CSUCI to assist with its commitment to education in science, technology, and business, as well as to develop strategies that will help meet the region's need for business and technology-skilled employees and the fostering of applied research and development.

The ongoing goal of the B&T Partnership is to foster the collaboration of technology and related service-based companies with CSUCI and to promote technological excellence among its students, faculty, and staff for the benefit of the region's economy. An active Board of Directors and working committees will accomplish the stated mission and objectives of the B&T Partnership (see attachment).

Companies and organizations who are already participating in the B&T Partnership include Amgen, Battelle, California Amplifier, City National Bank, EDC-VC, First California Bank, Gold Coast Innovation Center, Miravant Medical Technologies, Pacific Coast Business Times, ReedSmith LLP, Rockwell Scientific Company, Silicon Valley Bank and VCEDA.

The membership fee to join the B&T Partnership is $100 annually per person to cover administrative costs (see attachment). CSUCI Corporate Council members who are annually contributing to the CSUCI Foundation are not required to pay this fee and can designate up to five members from their company to participate in the B&T Partnership.

Enclosed is an application. We sincerely hope that you will join us. However, if you cannot but are interested in being a part of the CSUCI community and its success, please contact Marty de los Cobos, CSUCI Director of Community Relations, at (805) 437-8803. We look forward to your reply.

Sincerely,
